

How to care for sound recording collections - The British Library \(bl.uk\)

We warmly invite you to join us for our 'Save Our Stories: A Celebration Of Oral History in Achill.' This special event will introduce you to the practice of oral history used to document and preserve the life stories of people resident or closely associated with Achill Island. Project Founder & Chairperson Dr Angela Maye-Banbury will give a welcoming address on how Achill Oral Histories has evolved since its inception in 2018. The project's community partnership approach will be highlighted. Audio recordings, display materials and other resources will be available throughout the course of the day. Participants will be invited to contribute to the future development of the oral history project through a series of consultation and visioning exercises.

Achill Oral Histories is not for profit organisation dedicated to the recording and preservation of the oral histories of the people of Achill Island. In addition to developing and managing our oral history collection, we aim to support people in Achill in developing oral history related skills and competencies to boost employability prospects and personal development.
